

AngelStar® to Launch Stone-Inspired Pendant Necklace Series in 2011
Pieces combine popular Worry Stone™ concept with functional jewelry

Morgan Hill, CA – AngelStar®, a leading inspirational gift company, recognized for its distinctive ivory-colored inspirational products and Worry Stones™, has created its first-ever Worry Stone-inspired, pendant line of jewelry. Comprised of eight designs, the Pendant Necklace series features ivory resin angels, crosses, and angel wings adorned with words of affirmation and set inside clear resin stone-shaped pendants. Each pendant features a classic silver chain loop and accompanying chain to complete the set. Elegantly simple in appearance, these pendants are ideal for showcasing one's faith and blending inspiration with fashion-forward apparel. Each pendant retails for $8.95.

The Pendant Necklace is based on the company's popular Worry Stone, a smooth crystal clear resin keepsake that had its beginnings in ancient times, with the mentality that rubbing it between the forefinger and thumb would lessen one's worries and create a sense of calmness. The Pendant Necklaces series keeps the Worry Stone theme intact and allows for the pendant to be worn close to the heart and to help strengthen one's beliefs. The series, along with other new AngelStar products, can be seen during the upcoming 2011 winter market season at markets including Atlanta, Dallas, and New York.
